Wembley Kites.
They fly even better than they look.

It may be the fantastic designs that first catch your eye.

But just wait till you see a Wembley kite catch the wind. There's never been a kite that could fly so well.

It's the special frame that does it. You get instant take-off every time.

And once in the air a Wembley kite will soar and dive as you direct. (With a little practice it can even be made to loop the loop.)

A Wembley kite costs less than a pound. (That's everything included, even the string and handle.) And it comes geared-up for instant action. (Unfold, tie-up, and away you go.)

There are six designs to choose from. (Hot air balloon, skydiver, helicopter, vampire, flying dragon, Osprey.) And you'll find them all in the toy-shops now.

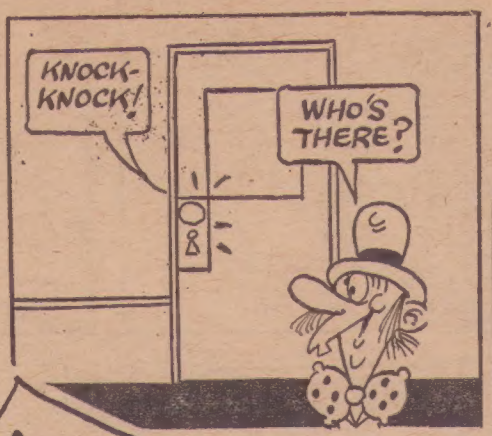
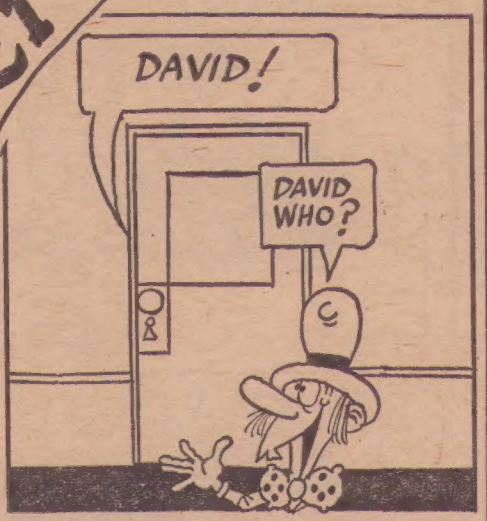
receives £1 as this week's winner. Send your entry to KNOCK-KNOCK at the WHOOPEE! address. In cases of duplication the first entry received will be judged.





Hello, friends, I'm the little man from the Knock-Knock jokes. Some time ago the Editor asked you all to send in suggestions for a name for me! Well, after sorting through all the entries, we've come up with a winner. She is Fiona McLoud from Plymouth, Devon, and her suggestion was 'ENOCK'. I like that! So Fiona will receive £1 as her prize. And Paul Milner of Northampton will receive the runners-up prize of 50p for his suggestion of 'ARCHIBALD McGURGENSQUIRTER'.

Dear Editor,

I'd like to tell readers of an incident that happened to me on a day trip to Scarborough. On the way there I kept telling everyone I was worried about stepping on a small crab in the water ... and when I did wade into the sea for a paddle, I DID step on a crab, and a giant one at that! As you can imagine, I got out of the water faster than I got in.

TONY WAUGH, Stanley.

Really nippy, eh? ... Editor.

Dear Editor,

I wish you would send all the ghosts from Scream Inn to our school because our teacher says comics like yours are RUBBISH. But I think they are great, especially yours.

JULIAN BARTRUA, Chelmsford.

Oh, well, everyone to their own opinion, but kids are our customers – so it's YOU we aim to please ... Editor.

Dear Editor,

I am writing to say that I disagree with the readers who would like to see a page of jokes instead of a comic set. I disagree because I think that your comic strips are too good to be dropped.

JONATHAN BRATT, Woodsmoor.

That's a powerful argument, pal. You've stated your case well ... Editor.

Dear Editor,

Do I have to dance or bake a cake,
To get a letter in WHOOPEE / SHIVER 'n' SHAKE?
Do I have to be happy like a clown,
Or do I have to have on my face a frown!
I've written in many times before,
But I think you're kind enough to print it this time I'm sure.

JILL HUTCHIN, West Worthing.

Thanks for the rhyme, you've made it this time! ... Editor.

Dear Editor,

I live in Saltcoats, Ayrshire, which is the county Robbie Burns was born in. I have been to see his cottage in Alloway several times. I am very proud to live in the same area as that never to be forgotten poet.

ALISON BOYLE, Saltcoats.

Who else lives in the same district as someone famous ... past or present? ... Editor.

OSSIE

Huh — how comes Kojak gets all the publicity about eating lollies? I've been a fanatical lolly licker for YEARS. My favourite type has always been the giant aniseed gobstopper on a stick ... and when it comes to the frozen variety I'm still a sucker for that tasty treat on a stick shaped like a spaceship. SLURP!

Dear Ossie,

I would like to inform you that my friend has two new kittens. He calls one Shiver, and the other one Shake!

DAVID ANSELL, West Molesey.

WHOOPEE! . . . Ossie.

Dear Ossie,

Last Valentine's Day I received four cards. One from my Mum, one from my girl friend, another from a friend playing a trick on me, and one from MYSELF. I accidentally put my own address on the envelope, you see.

PAUL DIBLEY, Newbury.

Don't make the same mistake on your birthday, pal, or you'll have to send yourself a present . . . Ossie!
